ASK TO BOOST
PRICE OF MILK

Farmers and Dairies Agree Increase of 1 Cent Needed;
Make Plea to OPA.

OPA Requirements

Before the OPA will approve the requested price raise the following three requirements must be satisfied:

1. Prove there is a proof that a milk shortage now exists or is in prospect.
2. A total of 85 per cent of all milk produced must be utilized in fluid milk.
3. The carryover, or distributor, must not increase his margin in any price raise.

Phil S. Eckert, price specialist of the milk division of OPA's division, said: "We began Army rations were introduced in the fall of 1941, and we had to be adjusted to the new situation. We are using record breaking methods to meet the demand for milk."

Both producers and dealers requested an increase of one cent a quart, which would boost the price to 15 cents a quart.

Last night's meeting was held in the common pleas court room in the courthouse.

Definite action on the two groups' move to raise the price of milk throughout Marion was taken with OPA requirements are met.

357 Get Supplemental
Gas Cards on First Day

Three hundred and fifty-seven supplemental gasoline cards were issued yesterday on the opening day of the supplemental registration in the Sun and Sunbeam on North State street.

Thirty-eight, or 10.6 per cent of the total, were for the preferred C cards. One hundred and thirty-four B cards were issued 58 T cards, and 129 D and R cards for non-highway vehicles.

Applications will be taken at the auditorium until 9 tonight and from 12 noon to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. There will be no registration on Thursday night.

Farmers, army men, business men, salesmen, industrial officials, transportation committee of Marion industries, bankers, virtually every line of business.

During the course of the registration, all dairy operators were asked if they are now short of milk. A majority of the operators said they were others said they could sell more milk.

Charles C. Cox and several of the men of the board of review were busy at the auditorium yesterday morning, going over applications which were processed immediately.

The supplemental registration started shortly after noon.

Also contributing to the shortage, another producer said, is the increase in population in Marion in the last six months. Proposed construction of 500 family units on a East Fairground street plot and a 300-unit camp unit on West Fairground street is expected to make the shortage more acute.

Another factor, Mr. Williams said, is the increased buying power of war workers. These people now are in a position to buy more milk than ever before, the group pointed out.

If the rate is approved by the OPA, most of the increase will revert back to the producer. New rules will be issued by the board of review.

Operations progressed smoothly with few exceptions, and minor changes were to be made today to speed the handling of customers.

Troops Set for Blow at Bizerte and Tunis When Axis Skies Are Cleared.

By C. VATES McDANIEL
AP War Correspondent

GENERAL VICTOR H. MELDRUM, HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Nov. 24—All day on Nov. 23, Australian soldiers fought their way to Bizerte, Tunisia, to assist the British in their battle against Japanese forces that sought to seize the British colony of New Guinea to the south of New Guinea.

Extending the picture of Allied enveloping advance in New Guinea, a British column had moved to Gona, a town about 12 miles above Buna, and was mapping out the airdrop, planned there.

Simultaneously, American troops took one on Cape Enda, 10 miles which lies three miles south of Buna, overlooking stiff resistance from 2000 machine gunners and mortar snipers.

While some of the allied airdrop force were clearing the way, the British, who had been fighting into the night, had cleared the way for the airdrop.

The Japanese were fighting to the last, and, though they were forced to fight with their backs to the wall, General MacArthur's bombers kept close with them, dropping incendiary bombs to retard the Japanese.

GROCERS FACE RUN ON BUTTER, OILS

Starts New Wave of Hoarding Buying.

Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Grocers in a respite from coffee and tea sales have been this week faced another customer buying—this time on butter and butter substitutes.

Supermarkets and smaller stores reported that the war production board's action Friday in freezing 40 per cent of all butter in storage for the fighting forces, had sent butter, shortening and cooking oil purchases up sharply as a prelude to the Thanksgiving day rush.

Butter supplies were holding up well, but some stores instituted voluntary rationing.

At the same time, the demand for tea, chocolate, cocoa and other coffee substitutes was reported to be brisk.

The New York cocoa exchange reported that manufacturers had been limited to about 60 per cent of their normal output, due to the curtailment of shipping from South America.

TUBELESS TIRE WORKS, WIDESPREAD TESTS SHOW

New Invention Tried on 1,000 Oil Company Cars.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Indication that the tubeless tire would work was reported yesterday by William A. Boyd Jr., chairman of the petroleum industry war council, on the basis of "the first few scattered reports" on a widespread test of the invention.

Tests on the wheels of more than 1,000 oil-company cars over the country so far "have revealed nothing to disprove the statements made by the discoverer," John H. McGay of Tulsa, Okla., Boyd said.

The tubeless tire may add more than 200,000 tons of high grade rubber to the country's scrap rubber stockpile, Boyd said, in the form of existing inner tubes. The council will not make its final report until the end of the tests over the end of December, he said.

Conversion to the tubeless tire, Boyd said, is "extremely simple," the only new part required being a truck valve stem assembly with washer, to replace the stem on the inner tube.

A few quirks have shown up which must be carefully watched, he said, and others may show up. For this reason he suggested that amateurs best not attempt the conversion themselves.

Two Girls and A Man

By Lois Eby and John Chester Fleming.

Rita's throat tightened at what she saw.

she made it out, "Call—Doc Burrows."

Bad Attack

Rita dashed to the house and called the doctor. In five minutes the battered couple turned into the Balston driveway. Ten minutes more and the doctor had Mr. Balston in his bed resting comfortably. Rita waited anxiously in the living room while the doctor gave her father an examination.

When the doctor came out of the bedroom and shut the door softly behind him, his pleasant face was serious.

"Your dad will be all right now. Just one of his old heart spells—but a bad one," he told Rita gently. "For the present, the doctor is a couple of days and take it a lot earlier than he's been taking it."

After the doctor had gone Rita opened her father's eyes. The color had returned to his cheeks and he was looking almost normal again. She stepped to the side of his bed and kissed him lightly on the forehead.

"Don't worry for one minute, Roly dear. I'm taking that plane tonight and I'll get Mr. Cunningham to extend that note. I'm sure he will, he'll have to—"

Mr. Balston looked up into Rita's lovely flushed face with genuine pride blazing in his eyes.

"You're a real Balston, child. Go to it, and may God be with you."

Spring is coming. Lena Patten, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Patten of Caledonia, "Lunch pops," she called through the open window.

The old man put down his wrench slowly and half-turning he called back, "Be along in a minute."

Rita thought she noticed a look of pain as she caught a glimpse of his profile but the more she thought of it the more she was convinced it was a trick of her imagination. The excitement of the past few hours had done strange things to her nerves.

She waited five minutes before she stepped to the door to call again—she didn't call, her throat tightened at what she saw and her heart was pounding wildly in her breast. Her father had fallen to the ground and was lying quietly on his side. His face was ashen and his lips were a cold blue.

Somewhere, she blindly reached his side. He was breathing heavily but was still conscious. She rubbed his cold hands and as she bent over closely she could hear him mutter something. Finally he stopped and she heard him mutter again. She reached for the telephone and dialed the number of the doctor.

A thin line of dirt and gravel winding through the mountains stymied the Japanese army for four years!

China called it the Burma Road.

Every time Jap airmen gave it a passing, the women, children, and old men of China patched it together again—often with their bare hands.

They knew that as long as they could keep it open their men at the front would have guns and ammunition to fight with.

America, too, had a "Burma Road"—not one which has been patched together by hand, but a 236,000-mile modern streamlined railroad system that links together the 48 states and links the railroads of Canada, Mexico, and Central America. Over this network of cross roads, switchbacks, spurs, and main lines are today rolling swiftly to war.

The railroads' two-year increase in freight traffic (mid-1940 compared with pre-war mid-1940) was 7770 and in passenger traffic 107%. In the last nine months alone the State and other American railroads have mobilized 200,000 cars and 200,000 men to their military commands.

Grateful for a Filibuster

AS LONG as the senators have decided to patch up their differences and bury the anti-poll tax bill until time for another election, perhaps it isn't out of order to be grateful for the filibuster they staged.

As filibusters go, this one wasn't even a fair sample, but it was good to hear the word again and to know that in this republic a majority still can be a majority in Boy Scout knots when its rights are in danger of being high-pressure-preserved.

A filibuster is obstructionist. It's inefficient. It slows up things and irritates people. But it isn't authoritarian, totalitarian, or dictatorial. It's distinctly American, furthermore. And speaking, perhaps, for some others who suspect there still are persons in Washington trying to link the Axis and America, too, we found it reassuring to read that the senators were having a filibuster, even if it was only a little one.

Squawk To the Japanese

THE CHISELERS who have bootlegged gasoline in the east, the conivers trying to keep themselves from being inconvenient as mileage rationing goes into effect elsewhere and the politicians who are trying to have the whole thing called off because it will be unfair to the oil interests should squawk to the Japanese.

It is almost a year since Pearl Harbor, yet millions of Americans still don't realize that Japan on that day gambled its existence on our reluctance to face facts. One of the facts was the division of the fleet between two oceans, whereas Japan had all its fleet in one ocean. Another was the removal at one fell swoop of the vital rubber to keep our transportation system in service.

It would be convenient to call off the whole ghastly war and revert to things as they were before last Dec. 7. As long as that can't be done, it would be wise for all parties concerned to start saving their automobile tires in earnest. It's not a question of convenience, of gasoline, of discrimination. It's a question of whether or not the United States is going to get licked. If you don't think so, get in touch with Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers in Washington at once. You're the genius he's looking for.

Meals for 500,000,000

HERBERT HOOVER'S estimate that the starvation problem after this war will be acute for at least 500,000,000 persons needs to be studied thoughtfully by whoever is making plans for better use of American manpower.

The United States intends to use its agricultural resources to play a leading part in post-war rehabilitation. Food, as Mr. Hoover points out, is more than a means of checking famine and pestilence. It is a preventative for revolution, unemployment, suspicion and hate. Populations desperate with hunger cannot be organized; they are subject to revolution, which was one of the lessons Mr. Hoover learned as food administrator after World War I.

Obviously, good intentions are of no consequence. The United States must start now to produce vast surplus stores of food. It must plan as carefully to win the first few years of peace as it is planning to win the war. Yet, both the potential and actual food supply have been slashed by a policy permitting farms to lose their labor; until recently, this danger received no attention. Far from preparing to feed the starving populations of the most unfortunate nations, the United States was diminishing its own food supply to the point where scarcity was threatened.

Perhaps in the course of matching up the hardest jobs and the most capable men, Mr. Hoover might be called back to his former post of food administrator.

Judge Wilkin

MANY OHIOANS are hoping that Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin may be given careful consideration for an appointment to the supreme court of the United States.

They are asking only that he be considered; they believe it would be impossible, thereafter, to reject him. On a basis of ability as a jurist and philosopher, Judge Wilkin is clearly qualified.

For the last three years he has been a member of the United States district court in Cleveland. Before that he was counsel for the Muskingum conservancy district.

Judge Wilkin was born in New Philadelphia and practiced law there until he moved to Cleveland, with the exception of the one year that he served as a judge in the state supreme court. He is 56 years old.

He has demonstrated in recent years an ability to grasp the significance of public trends and to reason about them lucidly. He has been neither an ardent leftist nor an ardent rightist but, like all men with full reasoning power, has been able to find the truth somewhere between the versions of extremists.

His friends and admirers are reluctant to press the point too hard, but the judicial branch of the government could use him well on its highest bench.

News Behind the News

British Ideas of Post-War World Believed Slightly Different Than Those of U. S.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—An experienced international authority in a talk from London tells us that British official thoughts of the post-war world run away from those our officials have been expressing (world unity, global state, etc.).

British will owe us billions out of this war, and she will not have it easy to repay now than last time. If her possessions in the Atlantic and Arctic, the Caribbean, Bermuda, Newfoundland, the Bahamas and British Honduras, have a defensive value to us.

They see Russia rising as a major world power. If Germany is defeated by the peace treaty and France continues the downward path she has been running for decades, Russia might expect to rule Europe.

Therefore, this authority expects Britain to come to the peace table with ideas somewhat like Queen Wilhelmina has softly advanced—against vengeful extermination of Germany as a nation. He believes Britain will want a strong democratic Germany maintained as a balance of European power.

Have Eye On Russia

Refugee government in Britain already are jokingly, if not yet seriously, with each other diplomatically. They seem only to want back what they had before, and as a whole, tend toward re-establishment of the old Europe, except all are more or less afraid of the Communists.

This information is not intended as a statement of official British position. Churchill will expand his promise to keep the British empire whenever he feels ready.

But it certainly suggests our officials had better get down to earth in their thinking of the post-war world and planning for it, and prepare themselves to meet world statesmen in the knowledge that they are all going to be human beings, and that nobody has turned angel in this war.

First, concrete thought for the peace conference is that it should be held in Washington. This is a world war, (the first one, incidentally). Nowhere is there a capital further removed from the politics of Europe, Asia and Africa, than is Washington. The right atmosphere for a good peace is here.

No matter what our diplomats say for world effect, that we are fighting this war for—the right of the Malaysians to work at so much an hour, or get a quart of milk a day, or world freedom—we all know we are fighting first for our own peace and security. We are fighting because it was challenged.

First Consideration

Therefore, our first consideration in the peace table must be that we get it. Other things we might get. Then we cannot do without, if our statesmen at the peace conference forget this, they will be fooled as much as their predecessors at all world peace and disarmament conferences, always have been fooled before.

Daily Bible Thought

Catastrophe comes when men are not watchful. Be on guard against enemies within as well as without. "Widowman, what of the night?"—Isaiah 21:11.

Good Neighbor Road

By The Associated Press

THIS is how the Pan-American Highway stands today. When completed it will run more than 13,000 miles from Alaska to Argentina—through almost every kind of climate and terrain. Total cost of the road, 19 years in the building, will be almost half a billion dollars. It will ease the strain on shipping lanes, make strategic raw materials from South America more available for our war industries, and in the post-war years open up vast possibilities for tourists.

Today and Tomorrow

Plan for Winning the War Now Beginning To Take Shape.

By WALTER LIPPMAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—It is no longer academic to work seriously at defining our war aims, because at last it has become possible to see how the war is to be won. After Pearl Harbor we pledged ourselves to destruction of German and Japanese military power. There were a very few who saw dimly then how this was to be done. But until they had clarified the principle of victory, had worked out initial plans, had put aside skeptics, had launched the enterprise, and had won preliminary successes, the discussion of war aims and of postwar plans was like the search in a dark room for a black cat that wasn't there.

What was known was that since Britain and Russia had, with not very much assistance from us, jointly fought Hitler to a standstill, the weight of America when it was mobilized would finish him. But until it was known where the power of America would be deployed and how it would be exerted, it was still impossible to make practical judgments about the armistice and the settlement.

The great decision as to how the war is to be fought has now been taken. Building on the foundation Winston Churchill laid in dark days of 1940, when he determined to hold at all costs not only the British Isles but Gibraltar, Malta and Egypt, the President and the prime minister together made the crucial decision to proceed from Africa across the Mediterranean into Europe.

The first promise of the African campaign is, of course, the control of the Mediterranean. This should give us capacity to bring greater force to Africa, the Middle East, and India and thus also to the Far East. With the greatest force in Africa and the Middle East, Italy should be at our mercy and Hitler's hold on the Balkans open to attack from several directions.

But beyond that lies something much greater and much more elusive. A United Nations army of invasion and liberation moving up from across Italy and the Balkan Peninsula will be entering Europe on the flank and in the rear of the bulk of the German army. Many who have talked about a second front in Europe have thought of it defensively; the western Allies were to attack in order to relieve the pressure on Russia by drawing off some of the German army.

That can give to the United Nations a total victory over German military power.

Two Results

A victory of this character will also bring about two results which are essential to the security of Europe and the peace of the world. The first is that it will insure to each of the occupied countries the opportunity to strike final blows for its own liberation.

The other great consequence of a victory of this character will be to compel all the United Nations to deal together rather than separately with the settlement and reconstruction of central Europe.

No such clarification of the scheme of the war with Japan has as yet appeared, though it may be in the making. Certainly the logic of events now set in motion will cause us to accept the view, recently expressed by Admiral Yarnell, that "In the war against Japan the main effort must come from the mainland of Asia, which means China. The naval operations in the Pacific are contributory, of course, to her final defeat. But a campaign from that direction alone is a long and costly affair, with success doubtful."

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Nov. 24, 1932.

It was estimated that more than 100,000 Ohioans who might have gone hungry received holiday meals or baskets of food through the kindness of citizens and charitable organizations as Ohio joined the nation in observance of Thanksgiving day.

Churches of the city cooperated in a plan of conducting special Thanksgiving morning services at five churches scattered over the city. The ministers taking part in this project of the Marion county Ministerial association and the churches at which they preached were Rev. H. H. Maxwell of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church, Rev. S. F. Porter of Oakwood Evangelical church, Rev. W. Marcell George at Trinity Baptist church, Dr. Robert W. Huckle at Central Christian church and Rev. G. G. Canfield at Greenwood Evangelical church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Johnston of Davids street were honor guests when Mr. and Mrs. Hailey Johnston of Prospect entertained at dinner in celebration of their 35th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Avis Clark of Wilson avenue gave a dinner complimenting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Gribble, whose marriage had taken place Sept. 22 in Covington, Ky.

Jack Weis was in charge of arrangements when the Merredell Booster club held a dance at Marion City club.

The 9 to 12 Dance club held a holiday party at Schweiger's hall with Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Mish as chairman of the arrangements committee.

Moreover, the launching of the decisive attack on Japan from the Asiatic mainland offers the only imaginable foundation for a settlement in Asia. It will make the United States and Britain the fighting allies in Asia, and not merely nominally, of the Chinese, the Indians, and perhaps eventually of the Russians. On the other hand, a war won by the American Navy alone over the Japanese Navy alone would settle nothing except that for a few years we should be masters of the ocean. It would not dispose of the Japanese Army, which is the center of Japanese militarism. Indeed it might cause Japan, when she had recovered her breath, to concentrate her whole energy, instead of dividing it, on the conquest of a land empire in Asia.

The Turps

It's a Funny Kind of a War Where the Girls Can Join in and Fight Alongside the Men.

By DAMON RUNYON

DEAR SIR: I haven't heard from you since Joe Turp who is at the war was sent but he told me to be sure and not to write him until I hadn't heard from him at least a month. As it is only a week since he went I don't have to worry for three weeks yet and I have been busy.

I have been helping my mom with the around the house and I haven't even been to the movies once out of course I wouldn't go without Joe to sit there and hold hand. That is something I really miss him. I dream him holding my hand the movies. It made me feel safe.

Old Captain Comerford who has been next door neighbor ever since I remember has been sick for two or three and I took him some cabbage soup and it made him feel better though he is still in bed what is really the matter with him is upset in his mind about his family. He is 70 years old and he was at the Civil war the Bro. John Zutty and his son John years old and was at the Spanish and American war and has been sick ever since took a nap who was with him at that war says mostly laziness.

THEN THERE is John's son, Fred, they call Puggy, who is Captain Comerford's grandson and he is 45 years old. He was at the last war so you can see the Comerfords are always at the wars and Captain Comerford was very proud of it and was talking about it when he was not talking about the Battle of Shiloh. But he is forgetful about everything else and sometimes he can't even remember all his grandchildren. There are five of them.

They are all Fred Comerford's children. Elsie is the oldest and she has been my friend for years and years and years.

So the other day Captain Comerford for Fred and looked at him awhile and which one are you. Fred said I'm Fred. Captain Comerford said O yes, I remember you. John. Fred said pops not well grandpa Captain Comerford said what's that I hear at a war?

Yes, Fred said, we are fighting the Japanese again and the Japs, grandpop.

Who the h— is that? Captain Comerford sending one, Fred said.

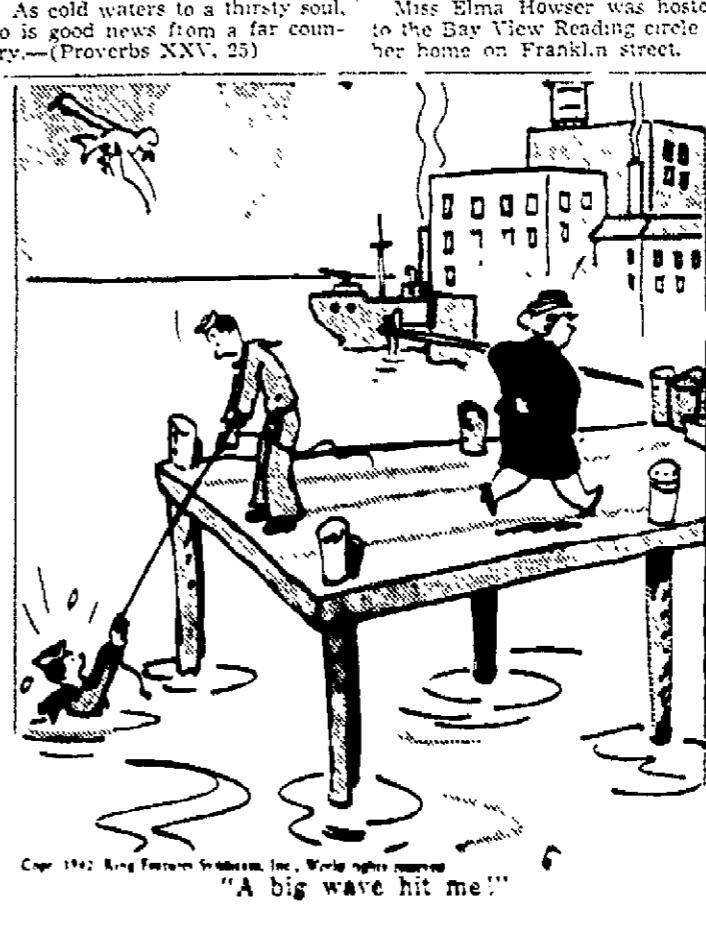

Let me see him, Captain Comerford said. So that night Elsie went with her father's grandfather's house and said I'm the who's going to the war this time and he's at her and said to Fred, what the h— is wearing skirts for? Is he a sissy?

I'm a girl, Elsie said. I'm going to be a W. They're girl soldiers.

Well, it must be a h— of a war, Captain Comerford said. Help me to my bed. I'm over so he could say there was a Comerford at this war too and between that and the battle of Shiloh he was able to sit up for an hour and tell us about the Battle of Shiloh.

Yours truly,

ICKES WANTS SECOND PIPELINE TO EAST

Japan's Next Big Move Likely To Be Against China

Would Provide 200,000 Barrels of Oil Daily.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.— Petroleum Coordinator Ickes told a congressional committee today he has requested authority to construct a second line of pipelines from the southwest oil fields to the New York-Philadelphia area, and said if approved it would add 200,000 barrels daily to eastern oil supplies.

The interior secretary told a house interstate commerce subcommittee it would take from nine to twelve months to build the line of authority and priorities were granted.

It would supplement a line already being built from Longview, Tex., to Norris City, Ill., and thence to New Jersey.

The line already being built to Illinois, Ickes said, is scheduled for completion by Dec. 15, but probably would be held up because of a labor shortage and delays in obtaining pumping equipment.

He said the extension of this line to New Jersey would be completed by next June.

Asked by committee members how public confusion with respect to the oil supply situation might be eliminated Ickes suggested that the public quit reading the newspapers and that efforts be made to hold down press releases that were not "cleared through the office of petroleum coordinator."

"Some people do the most talking who know the least about the subject," he added wryly.

William M. Jeffers, the rubber administrator, also was to appear before the committee for questioning in regard to his declaration that "no pressure group" would prevent inauguration of nationwide gasoline rationing Dec. 1.

Jeffers was called to testify before a house interstate subcommittee winding up two days of hearings on the fuel situation.

The administrator's rationing stand was supported yesterday by Price Administrator Leon Henderson who told the committee it should go through as scheduled.

HITLER HAS MORE FRONTS TO WORRY HIM AS ALLIED TIDE RISES AND SPREADS

Bashing successes of the Allies on two African fronts have been followed up by a bolding over of the frigid Russian front where Soviet troops have launched vigorous counter-offensives into the flanks of the Stalingrad besiegers. The Red armies in the Caucasus, guarding the gateway to the Baku oil fields, also have inflicted reverses on the Nazis. In Africa, the British Eighth army pushed the Tunis-Bizerte defense line of the Axis and still sought to cut a path toward Tripoli, to stand at the back of Rommel's remnants. There was an action on all fronts but the most punishing was the pounding of Italy's industrial and shipping centers by the RAF in long sweeps across the continent. Boundaries of European countries are pre-war.

GALION PREPARES FOR DEFENSE CALL

Moulton Discusses Plans at Council Meeting.

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 24—Civilian Defense Director Robert L. Moulton said Monday night at the meeting of the civilian defense council that all Galion members of all emergency corps will be expected to report to the control center when the state-wide mobilization is held Dec. 7. Although the recently purchased air raid sirens have not arrived, the Brooks reported that it was hoped the sirens would be here at the time of the mobilization. Moulton said that those who have a part in the mobilization but who are employed in war industries should report when the signal is given at 12:25 p.m. on Dec. 7 if it is possible without interference with their work.

John Schalk reported that the alerting signal will come directly to the police station, and men from W. R. White's air raid warden class are scheduled for duty at the control station. The signal was also informed that 850 posters have been made which will be distributed to signify emergency centers of the city.

FARLEY SEES DEFINITE TREND AGAINST NEW DEAL

Declares People Tired of Being Pushed Around.

By The Associated Press
OMAHA, Nov. 21.—The Omaha World-Herald quoted former National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley as saying in an interview made Monday that in the recent election "a definite trend against the national administration, brought about by numerous causes, resulted in a protest vote and made possible the defeat of Democratic candidates."

At the election he was quoted as saying, "It is quite evident that the American people got just a little tired of being pushed around, to use the language of the street." He decided that after many years of peace, politics had you always depend upon the American people to do the right thing sooner or later.

"They will go along with a situation but when they become convinced they are dissatisfied, they will change their minds almost overnight and undo the things they did so finally at other elections."

What happened in New York state happened in all states. There is not a family not connected with the war. Every family has its wife, a mother, son, uncle. They are very concerned about the prosecution of the war. When anything runs them the wrong way they do their own thinking."

STOCK EXPERT DIES

Plan To Transfer Farmers To Better Land Is Given Its First Test in Ohio

The Associated Press
WUS, O., Nov. 24.—The aim to keep production of food, and experiment to determine the practicability of moving farmers from less fertile areas to fertile lands, is being carried on by the "farmer-employed" central in the midwest, who would be farmers willing to transfer to richer farmland.

Ohio State university, on Franklin county, will be given jobs in the area of Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia, while other "farmer-employed" farmers would be asked to move from the Great Lakes and the upper peninsula of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Ohio State-Iowa Seahawk Game Saturday To Be All-Star Attraction

Naval Pre-Flight Squad Has Several Former Pro Gridders; 3 Ex-Bucks in Bierman's Starting Team.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24.—The Iowa Seahawks' game with Ohio State here Saturday will be an all-star show. It'll bring together the Navy pre-flight school's galaxy of former college and professional gridiron stars and Ohio's newly crowned Western conference champions.

Ohio will get its first practice tonight in an endeavor to fathom how to get touchdowns past a Seahawk line that'll average better than 215 pounds and also keep that huge line from opening holes for some of the fastest backs in the football business.

The Bucks rested yesterday, taking notes on defensive formations to use against Lt. Col. Bierman's Navy men and reviewing "mistakes" made in Saturday's 21 to 7 win over Michigan.

Suffers Nose Injury

Paul Barrington, the Hamilton hurricane who was a big punting, passing and running cog in the Ohio victory over Michigan, was the most serious casualty. He got a banged-up nose, but it shouldn't keep him on the sidelines Saturday.

The Seahawks will be out to beat Ohio, not only to knock off the champions, but to demonstrate that their only loss to Notre Dame was just one of those "old days." That demonstration is possible because Ohio beat Michigan and Michigan beat Notre Dame, 32 to 20.

Notre Dame trounced the Seahawks 28 to 8. Ohio State also had an "off day" this season, losing 17 to 7 to Wisconsin.

In the Seahawk starting line-up will be three ex-Oho Stateites—Dick Fisher of Columbian, halfback in 1941; James Langhurst of Willard, fullback-captain in 1940, and Charles Ream, a tackle six years ago and recent coach at Hamilton college, Rochester, N. Y.

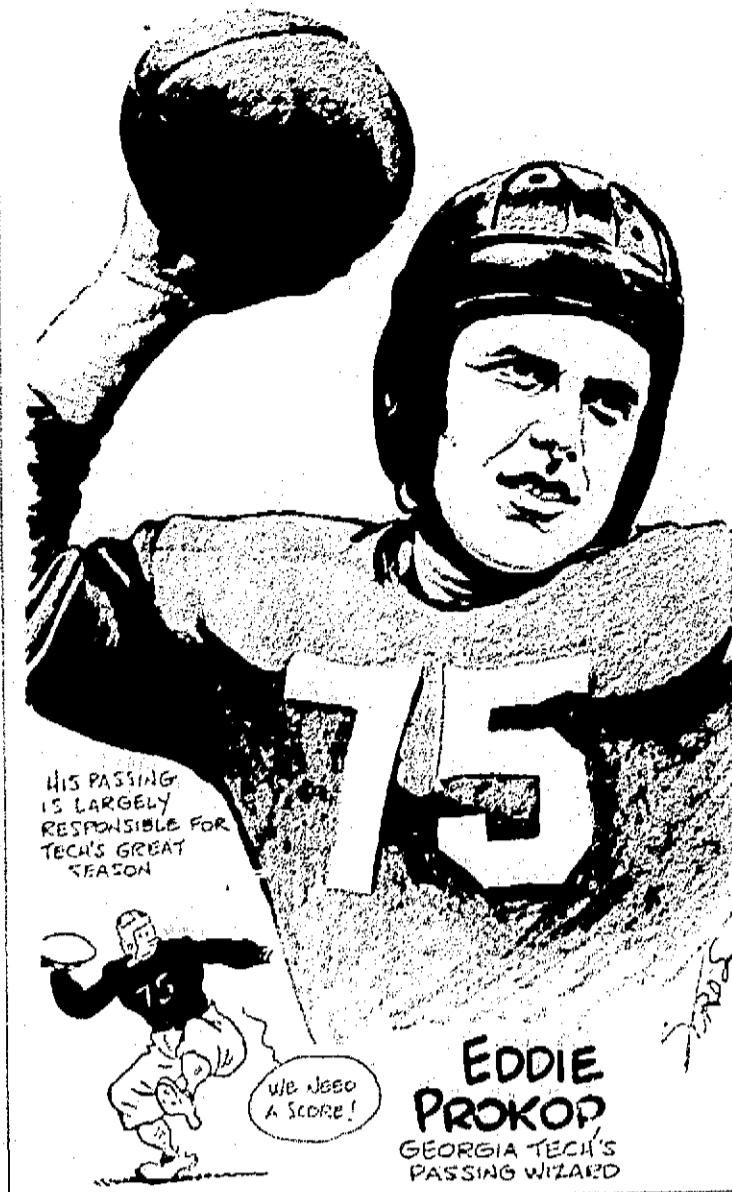

Another Ohion, Cyrus Warden, who attended Youngstown college, is a third string right halfback.

Kreick, Svendsen, Gage, Schultz and Jankowski were members of

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—Michigan may raise the "take" from the fair grounds horse-race bettors from 7½ per cent to ten per cent, giving the racing association an extra half per cent, or about $8,000 in an ordinary season.

Quote, Unquote—Lou Stiner, Oregon State grid coach: "Monday morning quarterbacks aren't nearly as tough on losing coaches this year; they're too busy second-guessing the generals and admirals."

Steve Owen, mastermind of the New York football Giants: "The best way to stop Don Hutson is to let him catch a pass in the end zone. Then he can't catch another until they get the ball again."

One-Minute Sports Page — The Harvard football team met the transportation shortage by getting a special street car to ride out to the Yale bowl last Saturday, and in eastern Idaho, basketball teams that have only short trips between towns plan to travel via horse-drawn sleighs. BOSTON COLLEGE IS VOTED NO. 1 TEAM; O. S. U. RANKS THIRD

Associated Press Poll Gives Top Spot to Unbeaten, Untied Eleven.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 24—It took a little time, a little patience and a little help from Auburn, but Boston college finally made the grade and today the unbeaten, untied Eagles are the class of the nation's college football teams, according to 118 experts who voted in The Associated Press poll.

No better than third in any of the previous weekly polls, the Eagles took over the top spot after Georgia's Bulldogs, first-place choice for the past month, were bounced from the unbeaten ranks by Auburn Saturday, 27-13.

Georgia Tech, runner-up to the Bulldogs in recent weeks and logical successor to the throne, missed the No. 1 rating by a matter of 34 points and remained in second place, although the Engineers polled more first-place votes than Boston's Eagles.

After spelling Florida, 29-7, for its ninth straight win, Tech was listed first on 50 ballots while only 47 sports writers voted the lead to a Boston college club that trampled Boston university, 37-0, for its eighth in a row. However, the Eagles drew 50 second-place votes to 38 for Tech and wound up with 1,078 points, compared with 1,044 for the Engineers.

The standings of the top ten teams (first-place votes in parentheses, points figured on 10-9-8-7 basis):

1. Boston college (47)	1,078
2. Georgia Tech (30)	1,043
3. Ohio State (16)	904
4. Wisconsin (2)	694
5. Georgia (1)	616
6. Tulsa (1)	377
7. Alabama	281
9. Michigan	279
10. Tennessee	197

David Weisert, 29, stationed at the state highway patrol substation here in 1940 and '41, has been graduated from recruit training as honor man of his company of 130 men at the Great Lakes Naval Training station at Great Lakes, Ill., according to a news report from Columbus.

A member of the state patrol for nearly five years, he was transferred from Marion to Columbus and was on assignment in the capital when he enlisted in the Navy.

Weisert enlisted as a specialist, second class, and through a series of aptitude tests given the 130 men of his company, he has been selected to attend one of the Navy's service schools.

He is now spending a nine-day furlough with his wife and two children, David Lee, 4, and Sheila LaJene, 2, at Reynoldsburg, O.

IN BATTLE ROYAL

LIVELIER BASEBALL AND LARGER SQUADS URGED BY GILES

Reds' Manager Makes Both Suggestions in Interests of Wartime Problems.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24—Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, thinks he has the answer to major league baseball's wartime manpower problem—livelier baseballs and a higher player limit.

Giles said today he would propose these two steps at next week's baseball meeting in Chicago, "as a possible means of keeping the sport interesting next year" despite the loss of players to the armed services.

"Increasing the player limit from 25 to 30 ought to give a club more strength so that if any one player goes into the service, the team won't be weakened too much," he explained.

The livelier ball—if one that doesn't require critical materials can be designed—would be of benefit to returning veterans who still have their bating eyes but have trouble beating out a hit to the outfield, Giles added.

He said he hoped to obtain plenty of support at Chicago since all magnates are aware that fans like home runs and long hits, but admitted he expected opposition to increasing the player limit.

"Some Sparten will come out for a 20 limit," Giles predicted.

"Then we'll compromise at 25 which is where we are now."

SPRINGFIELD HUNTER SHOT NEAR M'GUFFY

Marion County Youth Also Wounded in Mishap.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O. Nov. 24.—Adam Fink, about 40, of Springfield, was accidentally shot about the right side of his face, head, shoulder and hand by a young hunting companion, 13-year-old David E. Ermon of near McGuffey. Fink received treatment in McArthur hospital.

Wilbur Hensel, 17, of near Marion, an Antonio hospital recovering from shots in wounds in the back, suffered when his older brother, a 19-year-old, David E. Ermon of near McGuffey, Fink received treatment in McArthur hospital.

Kenton courts assessed fines against four additional hunting violators yesterday. Kenneth Shawenwiler of Mt. Gilead paid $25 and costs for shooting from a highway, Perry Tappett of Cleveland was fined $15 and costs on a similar charge, while James Anderson and Oscar Riffle of Dayton paid $25 and costs each for failure to display a license tag on their backs.

The first women hunter to bag a red fox in Hardin county this season is Bessie Ferland, who killed one Monday while hunting on her father's farm near Kenton without a permit.

Mike Jestineck and F. E. Lommer were fined $10 and costs for hunting on the farm of Charles Hoover without a permit.

BUCYRUS, Nov. 24.—Twenty-four hours after the hunting season opened Friday two Mansfield men had been fined in Justice O. K. Bonner's court for hunting without a permit.

Mike Jestineck and F. E. Lommer were fined $10 and costs for hunting on the farm of Charles Hoover without a permit.

In presenting the plan in the caucus session, Mr. Maxwell said:

"There is no need to say a word about the need for scrap metal. There is a war on. Your Marion and its industries are operating 100 per cent as far as war production is concerned. Going on 10 months, Ohio has been salvaging scrap and the organizations and school children have done a wonderful job, but the scrap will last only a short time. It has to be cut coming."

The spokesman said the signers "would like to have it as before but we want to be fair about it."

Councilman Johnson said he felt sure the bus company, now operating under government restrictions which limit the mileage the bus or may travel daily, could not give one-hour service. He assured the petitioners that the ordinance and franchise committee would investigate the possibility of having bus service three times daily, morning, noon and night.

TAX RATES SUBMITTED

A resolution accepting the tax rates for the city for 1943 was tabled until the next meeting pending a study of the budget by the finance committee of council.

When the resolution was presented in the open meeting it developed that most of the council members particularly the finance committee would investigate the possibility of having bus service three times daily, morning, noon and night.
